Danièle Kapel-Marcovici

Founder and President of the Fondation RAJA-Danièle Marcovici CEO of RAJA Group

“ 2020 was a trying year for each and every one of us, but it was a particularly difficult time for the most vulnerable groups, especially women who have been victims of violence. The public health crisis has placed a huge burden on the charities working day-in, day-out to protect women’s rights and freedoms. As President of the Fondation, I believe that it is more important now than ever to reaffirm our commitment to promoting and supporting the work of our partner associations, as we strive together to create a world free from discrimination, violence and affronts to the dignity of women and girls.

The Fondation RAJA-Danièle Marcovici has been engaging with all of these challenges since 2006, in France and worldwide. In 2020 we continued our work in this field, supporting 55 projects in 15 countries, reaching almost 10,000 women and girls, with a total budget of €880,000.

As you know, women suffering from domestic violence were particularly vulnerable during the periods of lockdown, leaving them more at risk than ever. This is why the Fondation has reaffirmed its support for the Fédération Nationale Solidarité Femmes, awarding special emergency funding of €50,000 to support the 3919 service (a dedicated national helpline). During lockdown the Fondation team remained in close contact with our partner associations, working to meet their needs (financial support and/or donations of sanitary products, masks, antibacterial gel etc.). On 25 November, to mark the International Day for the Elimination of Violence against Women, we joined forces with UN Women’s “Orange the World” campaign, donating over €100,000 to 16 associations working to combat sexist and sexual violence.

2020 also saw an important milestone for RAJA and its Fondation, as we celebrated 5 years of the “Women & Environment” product-sharing scheme, led by RAJA France and 12 other subsidiaries of RAJA Group. We are proud to have raised over €2 million since 2015, helping almost 10,000 women all over the world.

We made the decision not to cancel the 5th annual Fondation RAJA Women’s Awards, transforming this special “Women & Environment” anniversary edition into a 100% digital ceremony, in order to showcase and celebrate the remarkable work being done by our partner charities. This year, 6 associations were recognised for their exemplary work in the fields of emancipating women and protecting the environment, sharing a total prize fund of €80,000.

The world of tomorrow cannot be built without women. We will continue to support these charities in 2021, to champion their contributions, to raise awareness of the urgent need for action, and to cement our local connections with associations and actors on the front line. 2021 will also see us celebrating the 15th anniversary of the Fondation. ”

Fondation RAJA-Danièle Marcovici and partner associations contributing to the collective fight against COVID-19

Since the first lockdown in March, many charitable associations have been making exceptional efforts to help one another and maintain, in spite of the difficult conditions, contact with those vulnerable groups who have been hit particularly hard by the situation, most of whom are women.

The Foundation decided to award extraordinary financial support to 5 partner associations to help them through this period of crisis.

THE RISE IN DOMESTIC VIOLENCE: A DIRECT CONSEQUENCE OF THE PANDEMIC

The Foundation awarded emergency funding of €50,000 to the Fédération Nationale Solidarité Femmes.

Lockdown has been a prison sentence for victims of familial and domestic violence: trapped with their attackers, thousands of women and children are living in a state of permanent danger.

The Fédération Nationale Solidarité Femmes (FNSF) and its network of over 70 local associations have been working day-in, day-out to support victims, via the 3919 service – a national hotline providing help for women who have been victims of violence, their loved ones and the professionals working to support them – as well as in women's shelters and emergency accommodation.

In response to this urgent situation and the extremely precarious conditions endured by so many women, the Fondation RAJA-Danièle Marcovici awarded emergency funding of €50,000 to the FNSF, in order to ramp up operations at the 3919 hotline, which saw a massive surge in calls during lockdown. A 400% increase in the number of calls received has been observed between the week of March 9th, before lockdown, and April 20th, 2020 (Source: Interdepartmental Mission for Protection women victims of violence and the fight against human trafficking human - MIPROF).

The Fondation RAJA-Danièle Marcovici supports the FNSF since 2014.

MAINTAINING CONTACT WITH WOMEN AND GIRLS IN NEED OF SUPPORT

In this time of crisis, it can be very difficult for associations to keep up regular contact with the women and girls they are working to support. Faced with this new challenge, our partner associations have demonstrated incredible resilience and creativity to keep working remotely.

Rêv'Elles. The association Rêv'elles, devoted to helping young women from disadvantaged neighbourhoods, has adapted its activities and adopted new tools to continue providing vital support to beneficiaries: donations of computer equipment to combat digital inequality, individual coaching sessions by telephone, virtual meetings to discuss career and training plans, new free-to-download educational resources... A raft of new solutions to maintain contact with these girls, and keep them motivated.

Re-Belle. This association works to put unsold fruit and vegetables to good use, employing 14 women on professional integration schemes. Business has been severely affected by the COVID 19 crisis. The support provided by the Foundation has helped to maintain the provision of socio-professional support for employees, to kit them out with protective equipment (masks, gel) and to adapt the charity's organisation and production facilities.

Women's Centre at the Delafontaine hospital. The COVID crisis has aggravated the problems faced by women, not least in the form of a 30-35% increase in violence. Many at-risk women have required emergency accommodation and care. Moreover, restrictions on movements and medical appointments, as well as the domination imposed by violent partners, have prevented many women from accessing abortion services. In response to these unprecedented circumstances, the association has had to change its way of working, setting up new emergency shelters and recruiting more psychologists and social workers.

Projeter Sans Frontières. The COVID-19 crisis has severely affected living conditions for many people in Colombia, not least those groups who were already economically, socially or legally vulnerable. As is so often the case in times of crisis, women have been hit hardest. In order to reach these vulnerable women, particularly exiles and sex workers, the association has been distributing food parcels containing produce from agro-ecological projects. These parcels help to cover women's day-to-day needs, allowing them to concentrate on paying their rent.

SUPPORTING PROJECTS FOR THE EMANCIPATION OF WOMEN

Since its creation in 2006, the Fondation RAJA-Danièle Marcovici has worked tirelessly to support French associations working day after day to further the rights of women and girls in France and around the world.

Defending women's rights and fighting against violence

2020 was a particularly difficult year for women who have been victims of violence.

Domestic life during lockdown was a terrible ordeal for women trapped at home with their abusers.

Add in the psychological abuse rampant on social media, and intra-familial violence, and women's rights are under pressure from all sides. From discrimination (in access to rights, employment, services etc.) to personal attacks (physical, sexual and psychological violence), the threats are many and varied, and there is still so much to be done to allow women to exercise their rights and freedoms fully.

The Foundation was established with the goal of defending the dignity of women and girls, working hand-in-hand with partner associations in the fight for equality.

"2020 was marked by the Covid pandemic with global observations throughout the world that violence against women and children increased. Women victims of violence felt trapped in their home with their abuser and had to deal with special anxiety when it comes to facing their violent partner. Emergency calls have multiplied.

Over 2020, we have observed an increase of 70,41% on the national helpline 3919 which was created by the FNSF. Advisers answered almost 100 000 calls.

To face this emergency situation, Solidarité Femmes requested help from its network professionals to reinforce its national helpline (3919). 20 experimented and trained advisers have joined the 3919 team. In connection with 73 associations Solidarité Femmes which remained mobilized, we have developed new actions, especially to ensure the safety of sheltered women."

UNE ÉTUDE SUR LES VIOLENCES VÉCUES PAR LES JEUNES DANS LE COUPLE ET LA FAMILLE

Domestic violence affects 1 in 10 women in France. Among the under-25s, that proportion rises to 1 in 7. And yet, young women rarely call the dedicated helplines and are not frequent visitors to support services. These young women remain “under the radar,” out of reach of the relevant associations. In order to connect with young women on their own terms, the En avant toute(s) association has set up a digital support service: a chat tool www.commentonsaime.fr which allows users to discuss their situations in total confidentiality, and to receive information on the local services and structures capable of giving them the help they need. The association now hopes to conduct a study which will focus on analysing the data gathered from the chat www.commentonsaime.fr and reporting on the realities observed in the field, alerting the relevant authorities to the specific forms of violence encountered by women under the age of 26.

UN GUIDE MÉTHODOLOGIQUE POUR LA PRISE EN CHARGE DES FEMMES VICTIMES DE VIOLENCES CONJUGALES

In Vietnam, 58% of married women have experienced some form of violence at the hands of their partner at one time or another. Vietnamese society remains highly patriarchal, with relationships between men and women still largely governed by these traditions. Working in Vietnam since 1992, the association Planète Enfants & Développement launched their “Hy Vong” (Vietnamese for “hope”) project in 2019 to fight back against this situation. The association works with partners from civil society and the social services, raising general awareness and improving the care available for victims. In order to support this work, the PE&D team in Vietnam has drafted the first methodological guide on how to approach and look after victims, designed to be used by social partners. The goal is to disseminate this manual as widely as possible, helping to push back against the violence endured by women, and to support victims as they rebuild their lives.

UN Women's campaign for the elimination of violence against women "Orange the world"

2020 was a particularly difficult year for women who have been victims of violence. Periods of lockdown have been extremely dangerous for women trapped at home with their violent partners.

Tackling violence against women has been one of the main priorities of the Fondation RAJA-Danièle Marcovici since its creation in 2006.

This year, to mark the International Day for the Elimination of Violence against Women (November 25th), the Fondation RAJA-Danièle Marcovici joined forces with UN Women's "Orange the World" campaign for 16 days of action.

The Foundation provided emergency financial support of over €100,000 to 16 associations working to help and support women who have been victims of violence.

In 2020, the Foundation signed up to UN Women’s “UNiTE” programme, an international campaign for the prevention and elimination of violence against women and girls.

Since 2014, the campaign’s official colour has been orange, symbolising a brighter future and a fairer world, with no more violence against women and girls. The “Orange the World” campaign ran from 25 November to 10 December, and on each of those 16 days the Foundation awarded extraordinary funding of €5,000 to an association working to combat violence against women.

THE FOUNDATION MOBILIZED IN THE FIGHT AGAINST GENDER-BASED AND SEXUAL VIOLENCE ON THE WORKPLACE

On the occasion of the 25th November, the Foundation reiterated its commitment in the fight against all forms of violence towards women including violence on the workplace. The Foundation granted €30 000 to Human Rights Watch in order to support its advocacy campaign. The aim is for France to ratify the International Labour Organization Convention. Adopted in 2019, this treaty aims at helping governments to prevent and deal with violent situations and workplace harassment.

Promoting education and social integration of women and girls

Education is a major factor in the emancipation of women and girls, allowing them to access the professional sphere and achieve financial independence. But there are any number of obstacles which may prevent girls - the women of tomorrow - from attending school: gender discrimination, child labour, violence at school or on the way to school, and even taboos around periods. Ensuring access to basic services (housing, healthcare, legal rights) is also essential to safeguarding women's autonomy.

Through the work of our partner associations, the Foundation supports the education of young women and fights back against exclusion and insecurity, with a particular focus on migrant women and marginalised groups.

"The sheer impossibility of registering an asylum request with the relevant authorities is the number one problem for the women we work with. The second biggest problem is the violence and vulnerability experienced by women forced to live on the street."

In 2020, our team provided support for 2,899 people (women, men and children). All of them were housed in our emergency facilities for at least 23 days.

That unconditional hospitality allows them time to rest, and also gives our volunteers the time to open their individual files in order to make sure that they get all of the social, legal and medical support they need as they go through the complex process of settling their immigration status."

LE LOCAL DES FEMMES, A DAY CENTRE FOR MIGRANT WOMEN

The city of Grenoble, in the Isère region, is home to an increasingly large and vulnerable migrant population. Among the more than 500 migrants known to the city authorities, there is a high proportion of single parents, the majority of whom are women caring for their children alone. Due to the shortcomings of the institutional response to this situation, and the lack of capacity in the housing and emergency shelter systems, some of these families end up on the street. Faced with this situation, and the increasingly precarious conditions observed in the 16 years since the charity was founded, local association Femmes SDF is putting its experience of working with homeless women to good use, striving to provide a more comprehensive support service to the users of the "Local des Femmes" centre. The project aims to continue to provide "classic" day centre services while also developing new initiatives in order to better meet the specific needs of migrant women, in terms of social integration and exercising their rights.

IMPROVING THE SOCIAL STANDING OF GIRLS FROM UNDERPRIVILEGED FAMILIES IN RURAL VILLAGES

The conditions endured by girls in Niger are particularly alarming, with 77% of young women marrying before the age of 18 (UNICEF) and suffering the ensuing social and health-related consequences: dropping out of school, early and high-risk pregnancies, etc. In the rural villages of the Zinder region the child marriage rate is 88%, while the social obstacles to girls' education are deeply-rooted and hard to overcome. Faced with these challenges, local association Yara LNC is running a raft of programmes in Zinder and Niamey, aiming to provide access to education for 400 vulnerable children and young people from rural areas in 4 dedicated schools. With its latest project, Yara LNC is seeking to expand its work with young women by setting up boarding houses which will enable 106 girls (aged 8 to 20) from rural areas to pursue their primary and secondary education, allowing them to stay unmarried for longer and improving their subsequent professional prospects.

Supporting the professional integration and financial autonomy of women

All over the world, women are confronted with numerous obstacles (social isolation, traditional gender roles, responsibility for child rearing and domestic work, self-censorship and imposture feeling, etc.) which restrict their access to training and professional careers.

These various obstacles isolate them from the rest of society and make them financially dependent. And yet, enabling women to get training, find good jobs or start their own businesses is an absolutely essential factor in their emancipation.

The Foundation thus provides support to many charitable associations working to promote the financial autonomy of women.

“Women and girls face many obstacles to achieving socio-economic autonomy: poverty, gender discrimination, restrictive social norms, sexist violence and harmful traditional practices (child marriage, female genital mutilation etc.), to name but a few.

W4 provides digital training, professional skills development, support for entrepreneurs and mentoring, in order to help women and girls develop the skills they need to get into formal employment or found their own companies.

We place special emphasis on digital training, because digital inclusion helps to expand women’s access to resources which can make them more employable, more independent and more visible. Our programmes are designed to be inclusive of families and communities, creating a comfortable environment for women, conducive to emancipation.”

HÉROÏNES EN RÉGION

In France, the circumstances faced by women in priority development areas (QPV) have deteriorated considerably over the past decade. Many are immigrants, and are either unemployed or working in precarious conditions. These women face multiple forms of discrimination, which present obstacles to their integration and the full exercise of their rights. Faced with these challenges, charitable association Les Ateliers du Féminisme Populaire has launched a programme entitled Héroïnes en région (Local Heroines), supporting women from priority development neighbourhoods as they pursue training and entrepreneurship. The programme has already helped dozens of women from Melun (Seine-et-Marne) and Le Mée (Essonne) to develop professional, charitable and artistic projects. The programme has now been rolled out to 3 more towns (Bondy and Sevran in Seine-Saint-Denis and Compiègne in the Oise region). Collective classes, mentoring and visits to local businesses help women to nurture their self-confidence and acquire the tools they need to develop their own projects.

SUPPORT FOR REFUGEE WOMEN IN UGANDA

The vast majority of the world's refugees live in the Global South, flocking to cities where they are cut off from the humanitarian assistance available in refugee camps. Refugees often organise among themselves to help one another and their communities (education, social services, financial assistance etc.), but a lack of resources and skills can be a serious obstacle to the development of such initiatives. Urban Refugees have developed a special methodology for boosting the capacities of organisations led by refugees. One of their partner projects is the association SWPDA (Sudanese Women for Peace and Development Association), a mutual support group run by and for Sudanese refugees in Uganda. Thanks to this scheme, between 20 and 25 women with prominent roles in SWPDA have received training in project management, accounting, leadership, communication and how to manage an association. 500 women and their families have seen a considerable improvement in their living conditions thanks to the new activities and partnerships put in place by the SWPDA.

Association supported in 2018.

Strengthening the role of women in environmental protection and the fight against climate change

The climate crisis facing our planet grows more alarming by the day, and the experts who make up the UN's Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) are in no doubt that groups who are already vulnerable and marginalised will bear the brunt of the consequences.

This is particularly true of women, who depend on natural resources for their means of subsistence, particularly in rural areas where they are responsible for ensuring the food security of their families. Often excluded from decision-making processes, with very limited access to resources, women are the first to feel the consequences of climate change.

The Foundation supports associations working to foster innovative initiatives led by women, in fields ranging from sustainable agriculture to renewable energies and waste management.

"In all traditional societies, the crucial role played by rural women is often neglected. Their access to land is restricted, and their ancestral know-how is sorely undervalued.

Climate change affects society as a whole, but women are most vulnerable to the negative consequences. And yet, it is they who hold the keys to change. They tend to be less mobile, with a more advanced understanding of their local territory, making them ideally-placed to find solutions to environmental challenges.

Since 2015, Migrations & Développement has been working to promote the social autonomy of women and their role in the agro-ecological transition in progress in Morocco. With the support of the Fondation RAJA-Danièle Marcovici, our work focuses primarily on women from southern Morocco, with an approach combining agricultural development, environmental protection and the emancipation of women."

LA PANAMÉENNE

In 2018, Paris-based charity Food2Rue was faced with a threefold challenge: the lack of dedicated and pertinent professional integration resources for women in the Greater Paris region, the interest expressed by many women in getting into the food and hospitality industry, and the problems encountered by many low-income families when it comes to accessing healthy and environmentally-responsible food. They came up with an innovative, collaborative response: La Panaméenne. This solidarity-focused food hall, located in Paris' 14th arrondissement, houses both an informal restaurant and a grocery store, offering seasonal, organic produce from local farms and fair trade suppliers. The food hall is managed by a team of 14 women who were previously long-term unemployed, hired on special integration contracts and provided with tailored support for their professional development and future plans.

PARTICIPATORY REFORESTATION IN THE ECUADORIAN AMAZON, AND PROMOTING THE AGRICULTURAL PRODUCE OF REFORESTED LAND

Over the past fifteen years, living conditions for the indigenous populations of Ecuador's Napo Province have been deteriorating. The expansion of oil drilling in the area, and increasing pressures on natural resources, have had a significant impact on local communities and their lifestyles. One result has been a rural exodus of men leaving their villages to work in the cities or on drilling operations. Left alone to take care of their families and handle food production, women find themselves in particularly vulnerable circumstances. Since 2016, local association Ishpingo, specialising in the fight against deforestation, has been training women in agroforestry techniques and developing a sustainable cottage industry devoted to the transformation and sale of fruit (jams) and leaves (for their essential oils) from the reforested areas. A new intake was launched last year, with 90 more women enrolled for training.

CAMPAIGNING, INFORMING AND RAISING AWARENESS TO OVERCOME INEQUALITIES

The unprecedented context related to the health crisis highlighted the climate emergency to which we are all confronted.

In 2020, the Foundation organized 2 major events to support and promote the associations that act in favour of the protection of the environment: the 5th Ceremony of the RAJA Women's Awards Foundation, special edition "Women & Environment" and the celebration of the 5 year-anniversary of our programme of actions "Women & Environment".

THE FONDATION RAJA WOMEN'S AWARDS 2020 : 5th edition dedicated to celebrating the role of women in protecting the environment

The 5th annual Fondation RAJA Women's Awards - Special "Women and the Environment" Edition - was held online on 10 December 2020. This ceremony is always a big occasion for the Foundation, an opportunity to showcase the vital work done by the organisations we support, all striving for the emancipation of women in France and throughout the world.

Danièle Kapel-Marcovici, Founder and President of the Foundation, closed the ceremony with a heartfelt address.

Here is an excerpt from the speech given by Danièle Kapel-Marcovici, Founder and President of the Fondation RAJA-Danièle Marcovici:

"In spite of the extraordinary circumstances imposed by the present health crisis, I felt it was essential that the 2020 Fondation RAJA Women's Awards should go ahead [...] Because the current crisis is a forceful reminder of the importance of local food production, protecting natural resources and supporting innovative, sustainable initiatives. "

"I'd like to thank the whole Foundation team and committee for this prize. This award symbolises our shared humanity, all these individuals from around the world united. That's what we're all missing at the moment."

DECEMBER 2020

In 2020, the public health measures in place unfortunately made it impossible to hold the 5th annual Fondation RAJA Women's Awards in the usual style, at the Théâtre du Trianon in Paris.

But we felt that it was essential to find a way to reiterate our support for the Foundation's partner associations in these trying times. So we decided to organise a 100% online ceremony, celebrating the role played by women in protecting the environment.

You can view or review the Ceremony on the Foundation's YouTube page.

Celebrating 5 years of the “Women & Environment” programme

A rare bit of good news in 2020: our “Women & Environment” programme celebrated its 5th birthday!

Since 2015, the Foundation and RAJA Group have been working hard to promote the role of women in protecting the environment and fighting back against climate change, with a programme of actions united under the banner “Women & Environment.”

But what does it actually entail?

“Women & Environment” is a vast, biannual product-sharing operation led by RAJA France and 12 of the Group’s European companies (Belgium, the Netherlands, Austria, UK, Italy, Spain, Poland and Switzerland). Every time a client buys one of the eco-responsible products highlighted in the RAJA Catalogue, RAJA France or one of the participating companies donates €1 to the Foundation.

All funds collected during the operation (which lasts for 6 months) are then redistributed to charity projects supporting initiatives led by women and contributing to the sustainable environmental transition.

This programme is a great way of involving the whole RAJA Group ecosystem: employees, suppliers and customers. Customers can make a difference with their purchases, and find out more about the projects they are helping to support in the pages of the RAJA general catalogue, published in March and September, and on the websites of both the company (www.raja.fr) and the Fondation RAJA-Danièle Marcovici (www.fondation-raja-marcovici.com).

Migrations & Développement - Morocco

11TH EDITION September 2020 to February 2021

The 11th edition of the campaign was launched in September 2020. The €130,000 raised will be distributed among 6 charitable projects:

- Elevages Sans Frontières (Burkina Faso): supporting the economic independence of women farmers with the creation of a local dairy sector.
- Yobalema (Senegal): training women in agro-ecological techniques and helping them to plant vegetable gardens.
- Food2Rue (France): promoting the socio-professional integration of long-term unemployed women through training in different aspects of sustainable catering.
- WECF (France): supporting women entrepreneurs in the fields of sustainable agriculture and food in rural areas.
- Fleurs de Cocagne (France): providing long-term unemployed women with professional training and employment in organic agriculture and horticulture.
- Migrations & Développement (Morocco): promoting uptake of sustainable agricultural methods, reinforcing the role of women in the agroecological transition.

Focus on the “Perspectives for Women” programme in Germany

In September 2016, RAJAPACK Germany launched a new programme entitled “Perspectives for Women” in partnership with clients. This programme operates on the same lines as “Women & Environment” scheme: every time a client buys one of a selection of eco-responsible products from the RAJAPACK Germany catalogue, €1 is donated to German charities working to help women.

The operation has been a major success: the 6 previous editions have raised a total of €320,000.

The funds raised by each campaign are split between 3 charitable associations, selected by the German office and the Foundations. These associations are supported since 2017.

HORIZONT E.V. (MUNICH)

The association HORIZONT e.V. provides temporary shelter for homeless women and their children, helping them to find more long-term accommodation. There is also a crèche on site, and users can get advice on how to exercise their rights and find accommodation.

A photograph showing two women with long hair sitting on a light-colored sofa. They are facing away from the camera, looking towards a large, decorated Christmas tree. The tree is lit with blue and white lights and has red and white ornaments. The room is dimly lit, with light coming from a window behind the tree. A small Christmas tree with lights is on a table in the foreground to the right.

PAPATYA (BERLIN)

Papatya is a crisis prevention centre which provides shelter for women and girls who have been victims and/or are at risk of violence (domestic and familial violence, abduction, forced marriages, honour crimes etc.). The girls who find shelter here receive support as they rebuild their lives, with collective action programmes and discussion therapy focusing on their experiences.

A photograph showing several people sitting at desks in a room, working on computers. The focus is on their hands typing on keyboards. There are multiple computer monitors and keyboards visible. The lighting is bright, suggesting a window in the background.

VBFF E.V (FRANKFURT)

VbFF is an association working to boost the professional development of women. VbFF works particularly closely with young mothers without qualifications and immigrants, helping them to get back into work. The association provides continuing education courses, language classes and help with writing job applications.

STRENGTHENING THE INVOLVEMENT OF THE GROUP'S COLLABORATORS WITH THE RAJApeople PROGRAMME

Since 2013, the charitable spirit of the RAJA Group and Foundation has been embodied in the RAJApeople programme. Launched in France and rapidly expanded to all 17 European countries in which the group operates, the RAJApeople programme gives all RAJA collaborators the opportunity to support women's rights. This personal and collective involvement can take many forms: solidarity days organised internally, regular micro-donations (taken from employees' wages), volunteer work and support for selected charity projects.

INSIGHT FROM A NEW MICRODONOR

Pierre BESNARD

RAJA collaborator
(IT Technician) and
microdonor since 2020

"I signed up to the microdonation scheme to make a small contribution to the work being done by the Fondation RAJA-Danièle Marcovici.

I like that the programme is both simple and tangible: giving something back each month, to help associations working in the field.

I was moved by the values these associations represent, and the way they fight day after day to advance the cause of equality. The way that the Foundation is rooted in the company reminds us all that equality between women and men cannot be taken for granted. We all need to stay informed and involved, both men and women." »

microDON
Donner un peu, plus souvent

The microdonation scheme allows all employees who wish to participate to make a monthly donation to the Foundation, by rounding their salary down to the nearest Euro. The value of each donation is matched by RAJA.

PRESENTATION OF THE RAJAPEOPLE PRIZES 2020

On 17 September 2020, Danièle Kapel-Marcovici presented 2 associations with RAJApeople Prizes on behalf of the 162 microdonors at RAJA and CENPAC.

The participants themselves voted for their favourite charities, one in France and one elsewhere, who then received an equal split of the sums raised throughout the year: €16,066, or €8,033 for each association.

The RAJApeople France Prize:
Femmes pour le Dire, Femmes pour Agir

The association Femmes pour le Dire, Femmes pour Agir was recognised for its campaign combating the violence suffered by women with disabilities in the Paris region. Disability is an aggravating factor in terms of vulnerability to violence, and there are precious few resources available to tackle the under-reported phenomenon of violence against women living with disabilities. The association has set up a dedicated helpline for women in these circumstances, as well as regular telephone and in-person surgeries and a range of creative workshops and well-being activities.

"The current health crisis has only served to exacerbate the violence suffered by women. They have found themselves more at risk of domestic violence. The number of calls to our helpline quadrupled during lockdown. That's why the support of the Foundation has been more important than ever for us."

Isabelle Dumont, director of communication for FDFA.

The RAJApeople International Prize:
Movement France

The Movement France association was recognised for its project "Fighting taboos around periods, and helping Burkinabe women to earn a living." In Burkina Faso, taboos surrounding menstruation represent a real obstacle to the social and professional emancipation of women and girls, who are considered to be impure during their periods. Movement France is working to provide a long-term solution, in the form of a workshop manufacturing washable sanitary pads, made by women in precarious circumstances. The aim is to improve the living conditions and health of women and girls, and minimise the amount of school and work that they miss.

"On behalf of Movement France, I would like to thank the Fondation RAJA Danièle-Marcovici and all of the donors at RAJA. This prize will help us to step up our efforts to promote the project, and to continue our fight against period taboos in middle schools and high schools."

Mathieu Riffault, Movement France Secretary.

European week of mobilisation for Women's Rights

To mark International Women's Day on 8 March, and under the aegis of the RAJApeople programme, RAJA Group collaborators all over Europe rallied in support of our "European week of mobilisation for Women's Rights."

In the week 2-6 March, the Group's 3,000 collaborators took part in an array of events and initiatives organised by the Foundation and our partner associations.

EUROPE-WIDE SOLIDARITY COLLECTIONS

Thanks to the generosity of our teams, 24 donation drives were organised and brought in over 800 kilograms of personal hygiene products and other essentials for local charities. Alongside these large-scale charitable collections, 12 of the Group's companies dotted throughout Europe launched their own initiatives in support of the local charities of their choice.

- In France: employees at RAJA HQ and our other French companies showed their support for two associations working to help women in precarious circumstances: La Maison des Femmes de Saint-Denis, and Règles Élémentaires.

- In Europe: 12 of RAJA Group's European companies also decided to lend their support to charitable associations working to provide help, shelter and better living conditions for women who have been victims of violence: RAJA Germany: Taff in Karlsruhe - RAJA Austria: WENDEPUNKT - RAJA Belgium: Sint-Vincentius Limburg - RAJA Spain: HÈLIA - Kalamazoo (Spain): Oxfam - Morplan (United-Kingdom): Saferplaces - RAJA Norway: Dråpen i Havet - RAJA Netherlands: XONAR Women's Shelter & Assistance - RAJA Sweden: Talita - RAJA Switzerland: Frauenhaus Basel - Udo Baër (Germany): Women's shelter in Duisburg - RAJA United Kingdom: MKACT.

AN AWARENESS-RAISING CAMPAIGN WITHIN THE GROUP'S COMPANIES

Throughout the week, at RAJA HQ and in all of the Group's companies throughout Europe, a campaign entitled "Pioneering Combats and Heirs to their Legacy" turned the spotlight on 5 pairs of extraordinary women, celebrating "Pioneers" and their latter-day "Heirs" in the fields of cinema, politics, space exploration, mathematics and journalism.

This campaign was designed to raise awareness of the importance and long-term legacy of the battle for women's rights: the combats led by these pioneers represent both a rich heritage and a source of inspiration for the women of today.

Workshops inviting collaborators to “Put your talents to work for women’s rights”

Sport & Reconstruction workshop, organised by UFOLEP, a charity which uses sport to help women who have been victims of physical and/or psychological violence to rebuild their lives and rediscover their self-confidence.

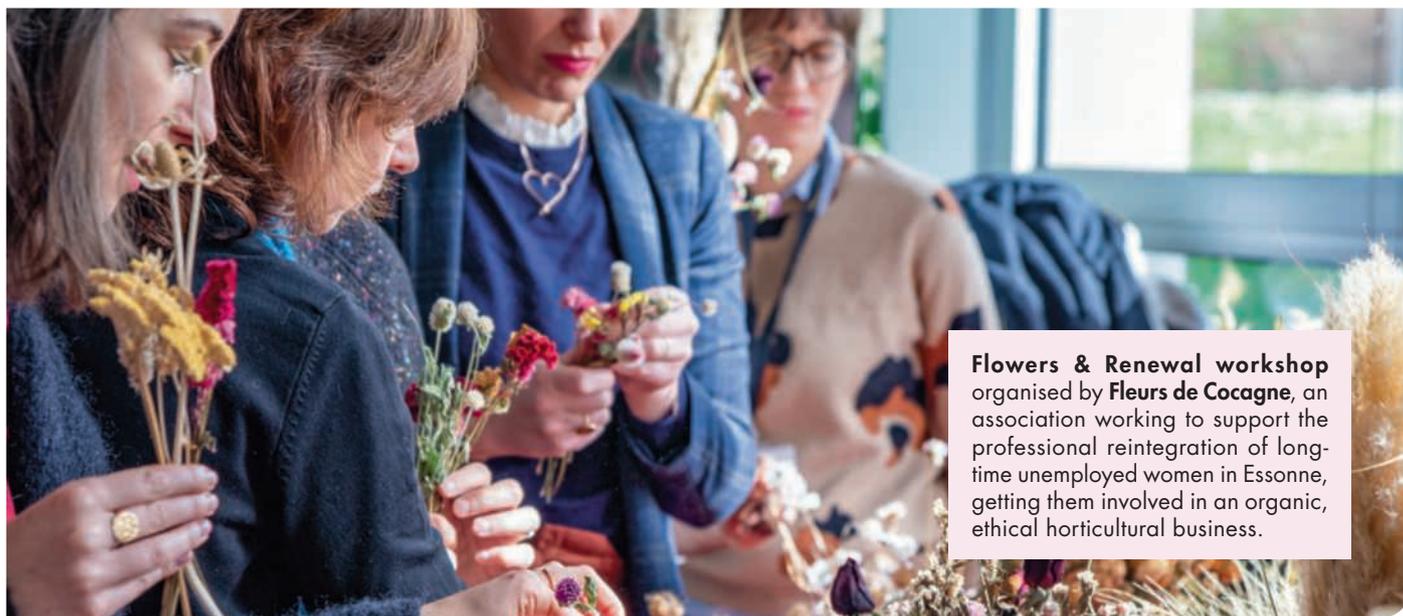

Cuisine & Reintegration workshop organised by Re-Belle, an association making artisan jams out of unsold fruits and vegetables, helping long-term unemployed women to find their way in the world of work.

Throughout the week at RAJA head office, colleagues were invited to meet representatives of 4 of the Foundation's partner associations working to defend women's rights, in the form of a series of fun sports sessions and creative workshops.

Recycling Toys workshop run by the association Rejoué, the first circuit dedicated to the recycling of used toys staffed by long-term unemployed women, as part of a professional integration scheme.

Flowers & Renewal workshop organised by Fleurs de Cocagne, an association working to support the professional reintegration of long-time unemployed women in Essonne, getting them involved in an organic, ethical horticultural business.

A closing session on the theme of “sexist marketing”

On Friday 6 March, Danièle Kapel-Marcovici presented a recap of all the events organised in the week of 2-6 March at RAJA head offices and throughout the Group’s European subsidiaries. She also reiterated her unwavering commitment to defending women’s rights.

This event also included a presentation from Marion Vaquero, founder of the association Pépîte Sexiste, showcasing their work to “bring brands’ marketing practices into the modern age, encouraging a more inclusive and less stereotypical approach to communication.”

The association works largely via social media, and has already succeeded in persuading numerous brands, both local and national, to rethink their messaging and rework their campaigns in order to make them less sexist and more inclusive.

European week of mobilisation to combat violence against women

2020 was a particularly difficult year for women who have been victims of violence. Periods of lockdown have been extremely dangerous for women trapped at home with their violent partners.

Tackling violence against women has been one of the main priorities of the Fondation RAJA-Danièle Marcovici since its creation in 2006.

This year, to mark the International Day for the Elimination of Violence against Women (November 25th), the Fondation RAJA-Danièle Marcovici organized an awareness event throughout the Group. In order to sensitize every collaborators to the fight against gender-based violence, the Foundation reinforced its partnership with the magazine Femmes Ici & Ailleurs.

FOCUS ON THE EXHIBITION “VOUS NE POUVEZ PAS RESTER COMME ÇA, MADAME...”

Based on a photo essay by Pierre-Yves Ginet, joint editor of the magazine Femmes Ici & Ailleurs, the exhibition “Vous ne pouvez pas rester comme ça, Madame...” (“You can’t carry on like this, Madam...”) offers an insight into the long road to recovery for women who have been victims of violence, as well as the crucial work done by those who support them day after day as they rebuild their emotional, social, financial and family lives. The exhibition was presented at RAJA Group head offices from 23 November to 4 December, relayed in digital format to the European subsidiaries.

Magazine Femmes Ici et Ailleurs and the Fondation RAJA-Danièle Marcovici maintain a fruitful partnership since 2018. In each issue of the magazine, one project supported by the Foundation is getting a special attention. RAJA France employees receive their issue of this international feminist news magazine on their workplace since 2019! In 2021, subscriptions will be open to every European subsidiaries of the RAJA Group.

Pierre-Yves GINET
of Femmes Ici et Ailleurs

"If there is one partnership that delight the Femmes Ici & Ailleurs team in every way, it is the one developed with the Fondation RAJA-Danièle Marcovici!

This Foundation is unique and a pioneer in terms of its work with associations, field actors who lead concrete actions that impact the daily life of many women every day.

The projects supported by the Fondation RAJA are led by incredible women who have a lot to teach us. And we are proud to make our readers discover their so crucial actions.

The Foundation operates « ici et ailleurs » (here and there) with women representing every diversity, strong point of our DNA. It is a pleasure for us to feel those shared values and this shared commitment on gender equality which undeniably are one of the main characteristics, rare enough to underline it, of your corporate culture."

ABOUT THE FOUNDATION

Sous l'égide de

Fondation
France

Founded in 2006 by RAJA Group CEO Danièle Kapel-Marcovici, and operating under the aegis of the Fondation de France, the Fondation RAJA-Danièle Marcovici forms partnerships with French associations working on the ground, all over the world, to further the emancipation of women and improve their living conditions.

The Foundation provides financial support in 4 key domains: defending women's rights and ending violence against women, education and social action, education and professional integration, and the role of women in protecting the environment.

It also promotes actions designed to raise awareness and supports advocacy actions aimed at civil society and institutional partners, shining a spotlight on the discrimination and violence endured by women and girls, and highlighting the need for more action and autonomy.

The Foundation also works to involve and unite RAJA Group employees in its actions and initiatives, via the RAJApeople programme

ABOUT RAJA

The RAJA Group is the European leader in the distribution of packaging supplies and equipment for businesses. The Group has 25 subsidiaries in 18 countries, offering Europe's broadest choice of packaging materials as well as a comprehensive range of handling and storage equipment, industrial materials, hygiene and maintenance products and shop fitting supplies. In 2019, the acquisition of Bernard, JPG, Mondoffice and Kalamazoo was a decisive step forward for RAJA Group's strategy of diversification and development on the European market, enabling the group to hit the milestone of 1 billion Euros in annual turnover, driven by the expertise of 3,000 employees.

THE HISTORY OF THE FONDATION RAJA-DANIÈLE MARCOVICI, A STORY WRITTEN BY WOMEN

First by Rachel Marcovici, who founded RAJA in 1954 with her friend Janine (RA for Rachel and JA for Janine), carving out a place in the very male-dominated world of packaging supplies and equipment.

And of course her daughter, Danièle Kapel-Marcovici,

- who took over the reins of RAJA in 1982 and has continued to expand the business nationally and, since 1990, internationally.
- In 2006 she decided to combine her long-standing commitment to the cause of women's rights with her firm conviction that businesses have a responsibility not just to the economy, but also to society more broadly. And so the Fondation RAJA-Danièle Marcovici was born.

RAJA GROUP

The governance of the Foundation is entrusted to an Executive Committee comprising representatives of the RAJA Group and independent experts in the fields in which the Foundation is active. The Committee is responsible for determining the strategic direction taken by the Foundation and selecting the projects which will receive our support.

SUBMITTING PROPOSALS

Project leaders start by submitting an application in response to one of the calls for projects launched on the Foundation's website.

EXAMINATION AND PRE-SELECTION

The Foundation team examines these proposals with reference to our stated criteria. The team then meets with the project leaders and selects the proposals which will be presented to the Executive Committee.

SELECTION

The Executive Committee examines the pre-selected proposals put forward by the team. It assesses their compatibility with the objectives of the Foundation, in particular their long-term impact for women's causes. After discussion, the Committee members vote to select those projects which will receive funding and how much.

FOLLOW-UP AND ASSESSMENT

Un partenariat est mis en place avec les porteurs de projets qui Partnerships arrangements are made with the successful project leaders, who are required to submit regular activity updates and financial reports. The Foundation team monitors the progress and results of sponsored projects closely.

THE RAJA-DANIÈLE MARCOVICI FOUNDATION IS A MEMBER OF:

Sous l'égide de

Fondation de France

With over 45 years' experience, the Fondation de France is France's largest network devoted to philanthropy. It brings together founders, donors, expert volunteers and employees from thousands of associations, all driven by the same determination to act. The RAJA-Danièle Marcovici Foundation was established under the aegis of the Fondation de France.

A listed charitable foundation established in 1979, Admical aims to inspire and support businesses and entrepreneurs seeking to give concrete expression to their social commitments via charitable work. Admical represents a network of almost 200 members, assisting them with the strategic, legal and financial aspects of their philanthropic efforts.

The Fondation RAJA-Danièle Marcovici is a signatory of the Admical Corporate Charity Charter. The Charter brings together over 250 companies involved in charity work who share a commitment to the ethics and values of charitable donations.

Created in 2002, the Centre Français des Fonds et Fondations counts now more than 300 members. Despite their diversity of action, of status and operating procedures, these funds and foundations are all united by certain shared values and goals. The CFF's mission is to help increase awareness of the sector, promote its development and represent its interests common for the benefit of the general interest.

Launched in November 2020 at the initiative of the French Fund Centre and Foundations, the French Coalition of Climate Foundations (CFFC), brings together and mobilizes the actors of philanthropy on climate issues. The goal is to create a philanthropic movement on issues related to climate change in accompanying foundations and funds in their awareness of these issues and in the implementation of effective strategies. It already has 67 organizations including the Fondation RAJA-Danièle Marcovici, signatory of the manifesto.
